WAR IS DECLARED ON BUCKET-SHOPS

operator. Altemus, the Sella Brothers Raymond and Rappell are associated with the Standard Stock & Grain Dealers, 16 Montgomery Street, Jersey City, which also purported to do business through the Consolidated Exchange of Philadelphia. Hall is the manager of chief clerk at Jersey City, and Stumpf is the representative of the Philadelphia Consolidated Exchange. Altemus was recently convicted in Jersey City in connection with operations there, and the two Cella brothers are well known as bucket-shop operators.

In the third indictment against Price, Randolph, Morehead, Welden, et al., Price, the two Randolphs, Moorehead, Weldon, Anderson and Gaskins are connected with William B. Price & Co., of Baltimore, of which Taylor was correspondent in Washington prior to becoming correspondent for Boggs & Co., the first part of September, 1909, Price & Co. was purporting to do business through the Consolidated Exchange of Philadelphia, and Campbell is its representative there. A representative of Price & Co. has been convicted of running a bucket-shop in Norfolk, Va., and one of the indicted men connected with the Price concern is a fugitive from justice in another jurisdiction. It is believed that the return of these indictments and the prosecution of the defendants therein will do a great deal toward destroying the operations of bucket-shops throughout the country.

Caught With Own Fire.
The government's sleuths went at the enemy with his own fire, and it is said did not hesitate to do a little wire-tapping now and then to get their evidence. Taking for granted that the charge often made that bucket shops secured quotations by tapping wires which carry them to legitimate customers was true, the detectives tapped on to more than one communication being sent between these indicted. Employees of some of the shops were served with subpoenas and called before the grand jury to tell what they knew about the methods of operations. Violations of the law upon conviction entails a maximum penalty of $10,000 fine and two years' imprisonment.

Raided in Baltimore.

Baltimore, Md., April 2.—Following the publication of a story yesterday that the firm was about to liquidate and retire from business, the offices of William B. Price & Co. in this city, were raided to-day by United States and local officers and three of the alleged "bucket-shop" men indicted by the Federal grand jury at Washington were taken into custody. They are Edward Weldon, James A. Anderson and Harry M. Randolph. William B. Price, the head of the concern, was not found at the office, though he had been there about half an hour before the raid was made.

Brokers Indicted.

Atlanta, Ga., April 2.—Six men determined fight it to be waged upon bucket-shops in Atlanta was indicted to-day when the Fulton county grand jury, which two weeks ago indicted five alleged bucket-shoppers, handed up to the court another batch of indictments against local brokers. The Attorney-General announced that the names of those indicted to-day would not be given until the bench warrants had been served. Late to-day John D. Turner, a prominent broker, was served with an indictment returned to-day, and gave bond. The cases will be called for trial April 18. The local offices of Price & Co. company were closed yesterday, announcement being made that the affairs of the company would be liquidated.

"Most Important of Outlets"

Philadelphia, Pa., April 2.—Six men were arrested in this city to-day in the government crusade against bucket-shops. All the arrests were accomplished without much trouble, and after a brief hearing before United States Commissioner Craig, the men were held in $2,500 bail for a further hearing next Friday morning. Bail was furnished by the men arrested are George Turner, of New York, a member of the Philadelphia Consolidated Stock Exchange and formerly connected with the Price & Co. concern; one time conducted a chain of bucket-shops throughout the East; Thomas H. Campbell, Philadelphia, a member of the Philadelphia Consolidated Stock Exchange; Humphrey Owen, New York, said to be a member of the Philadelphia Consolidated Exchange; and Marshall E. Parrish, Philadelphia, alleged to be the secretary of the Philadelphia Consolidated Stock Exchange; Harry C. Stumpf, Philadelphia, member of the Philadelphia Consolidated Exchange, and a member of the brokerage firm of Harvey &

Stumpf.

Most of the men were arrested while on the floor of the Philadelphia Consolidated Stock Exchange, which the government declares is one of the centers of the bucket-shop business.

George Cortelyou, chief of the postal inspectors in this city, who had charge of the arrests here, declared this afternoon that the arrests of the alleged bucket-shoppers here is the most important of the whole outfit.

The Consolidated Exchange in this city, declared Mr. Cortelyou, "was the center of the system, of which the operators in other cities were merely branches. Stocks were bought and sold without the exchange of certificates or shares and all the transactions in other cities had to be cleared through the Consolidated Exchange here."

May Fight Extradition.
New York, April 2.—The Bureau of Investigation of the Federal Department of Justice swooped down here to-day at a predetermined hour on the offices of T. S. Boggs & Company, armed with warrants from Washington directing violation of the national bucket-shop law of 1908. Three arrests were made and while the men were being arraigned, Louis A. Cella and his brother, Angelo, of St. Louis, Mo., millionaire furrier and speculator, walked into court and surrendered themselves. The other arrests were:

Leopold Mayer, a well known book-maker, also said to be a millionaire; Richard Preusser, a one-armed gambler who killed Miles McDonnell in the Tenney Hotel at Albany six years ago, was acquitted of murder on the grounds of insanity, and then discharged from Matteawan as cured after two months' confinement; and Oscar J. Robinson, all of the firm of Boggs & Company. They were all bailed in $5,000 and the examination set for April 4. The Cella brothers said they had read of their indictment in the newspapers, and knowing that they had done nothing wrong, had hastened to give themselves up.

None of the men arrested to-day would say anything except Preusser, who burst out: "This is only a play on the big fellows on the Stock Exchange to divert attention from themselves."

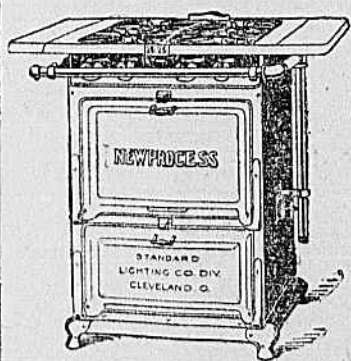

Preusser and Mayer are said to be behind Boggs & Company, and the Cella behind the Standard Stock and Grain Dealers of Jersey City, both of which are members in the Consolidated Stock Exchange of Philadelphia. The Department of Justice estimated that Boggs & Company have been netting a profit of about $5,000 a day and the grain dealers about $4,000 a day. Each of them is said to have spent $100,000 a year for leased wires. It was evident that they had some intimation of what was coming, for the books of Boggs & Company have been taken out of town to Philadelphia. It is said, and the Grain Dealers had closed their offices here and opened up in Baltimore yesterday instead. Mayer had a list full of United States Steel bonds to offer as bail. Abraham Gruber, counsel for the Cella brothers, would not discuss their defense to-night, but it is thought that they will fight extradition to Washington where they were indicted.

Governor Mann yesterday ordered the payment of the reward of $100 offered by the State for the arrest of Bruce Harris, of Lynchburg, apprehended in Birmingham, Ala.

September 11 of last year Harris, a white man, about forty years of age, shot his wife in Lynchburg and escaped. The State offered a reward for his capture, and pictures were sent to the police of the principal cities throughout the country. Some weeks ago Harris was located in Birmingham, and was shot by the police who attempted to effect his arrest. There was no doubt, apparently, as to his identity, and the Governor ordered the reward forwarded to the Chief of Police of Birmingham, for distribution among the officers taking part in the fight.
